

Corporate Senior IT Executives Criteria

The Corporate Senior IT Executives Criteria is for those applicants who do not meet the current primary membership criteria, but who otherwise appear to be a high-level IT executive. In order to be considered for this level of membership, applicants must report into a CHIME member CIO and meet the minimum number of points using the point-based criteria on this form.

In addition to this form and the letter of recommendation from his or her CHIME member CIO, applicants at this level must also submit the documents called for on the primary membership application:

1. An organizational chart of your IT department that shows who reports into you
2. An organizational chart that shows your position and to whom you report
3. A current job description
